Invited To Attend Meeting Of Alcoholics Anonymous

On April 21, at 8:00 P. M., the Farmville Group of Alcoholic Anonymous will hold a public meeting in the Farmville Methodist Church. Their speaker, who has spoken to A. A. groups, conventions and industrial groups all over the country, is himself a member of Alcoholic Anonymous and has been a Methodist minister for the past nine years. He was one of the first members of A. A. to go into the ministry and is a speaker of note on the subject.

Anyone interested in knowing more about the group is cordially invited to attend.

Poultry House Ventilation Important to Production

How the poultry house is ventilated has a lot to do with how healthy the birds are and how many eggs they lay.

Specialists at VPI say poultrymen would do well to check their houses for good ventilation. Poultry does best at temperatures from 10 to 70 degrees F.

Windows on the east and west sides of the house should be spaced about one every 10 feet of wall. Guard against having too many windows. The continuous type is not recommended in Virginia. Roof ventilators, roof insulation, and tight walls are also aids to good ventilation.

If poultry litter is wet, it's a fairly sure sign that the ventilation is poor.

FRUIT CROP OUTLOOK GOOD FOR VIRGINIA

Prospects for apple and peach crops throughout the state are labeled "very good" by horticulturists at VPI.

Howard A. Rollins, Jr., says the bud set in most orchards is good to excellent. The next month or so is going to be most important for the 1958 crop. Weather conditions will largely determine the crop, but it's not all up to the weather.

Another important factor, Rollins says, will be pest control, and orchardists would do well to follow a careful spray program to reduce or eliminate injury from scab and rush, powdery mildew, rosy apple aphids, mites, red banded leaf rollers, and leaf miners. The 1958 Virginia Spray Bulletin, available from county agents, or the VPI Agricultural Extension Service, VPI, gives details.

Care With Thinning

Rollins also says growers who are considering the use of chemical thinning sprays on apples should remember several points. Use them only on vigorous trees where a heavy fruit set is expected. Apply the for- on vigorous trees where a heavy more sprays separately, not in combination with other spray materials. Apply more of the spray to the tops of the trees. The fruit set on the lower branches is usually lighter and more easily thinned. Do not spray-thin trees until they are at least 14 years old. Do not apply thinning sprays to varieties or blocks of trees which tend to thin themselves.

Growers who have not had experience with the thinning sprays should use them on a trial basis and on a limited number of trees. Be sure to keep a record of bloom and spray dates as well as materials and concentrations used. County agents also can give details as to concentrations and times of application on various apple varieties.

NEW TWIST AT CHICKEN FESTIVAL

The 1958 Delmarva Chicken Festival, slated for June 26, 27 and 28 in Denton, Md., will include a new twist in chicken cooking, according to K. Thomas Evernham, committee co-chairman.

This innovation is a "Men Only" Chicken Barbecue Contest to be held Thursday afternoon, June 26, on the Caroline High School grounds. Each contestant will provide his own grill or cinder blocks will be furnished should he desire to build his own. The committee will furnish charcoal, lighter, salt and pepper, cooking fat and chicken.

Since "back-yard" style cooking is becoming increasingly popular, the Festival Committee anticipates a large entry list. Many handsome prizes have been chosen for the winners, such as a rotisserie, brazier, cutlery sets, etc.

Subscription rate: $2.00 a year; payable in advance.

In Fashion Now

The way a woman dresses tells a great deal about her. Her clothes will reflect her personality, what she is, and her attitude towards life.

The well-dressed woman with a mind of her own will not depend on fashions of the moment. She will plan her wardrobe with her figures, clothes needs, budget, coloring, and what she does, in mind.

A good-looking well - designed costume should never be more forceful than the personality wearing it. Yet, how many times have we seen women who give the impression that they are going to be in style if it kills them?

The real lady of fashion plans carefully, keeping in mind what she wants to look like. The finished picture is what she intends it to be—if she is an artist. Good looks and a smart appearance are never accidents.

It is always the complete outfit, not separate pieces of wearing apparel that makes a woman well-dressed.

On a limited budget it is best to buy basic-type clothes that can be adapted to many uses.

A well-dressed woman chooses clothes that compliment her figure. She learns how to play up her good features and play down her less attractive ones.

MYSTERY PEEBLES

Palisades, N. Y.- A mystifying layer of angular peebles, no longer than lima beans, has been discovered over the bottom of the Scotia Sea.

Dr. Maurice Ewing, of Columbia University, made the discovery on an expedition under the International Geophysical Year. But Dr. Ewing confessed that he cound find no geological explanation as to how the stones might have got in the sea, which lies between Anartica and South America. Dr. Ewing says the stones look like nothing he ever saw before—and Dr. Ewing has been digging the ocean bottom for thirty years.

NEWS FOR VETERANS

New standards for normal lung function in humans and a better instrument for doctors to use in testing lung function have been developed by Veterns Administration, the agency announced.

Both will be valuable aids for dignosing the degree of lung damage in patients with lung disease, VA said.

The set of standard values for various lung function tests is for normal persons in all age groups of the veterns population. The instrument is a spirometer, or device for measuring the volume of air breathed. These resulted from a large-scale cooperative research progarm begun by VA in 1954.

The next phase of the long-term VA-Armed Forces study will be concerned with measuring and interpreting abnormal lung function in various diseases.

The researchers are studying emphysema, a condition in which the lungs over-expand and breathing becomes difficult and less effective. Emphysema is common in men and rare in women. It is associated with asthma and chronic bronchitis, but in many cases develops without apparent cause.

VA doctors hope to find drugs that will be more useful in treating this disease.

Pulmonary function tests also are being done on patients before and after chest surgery, to develop preoperative lung function values and to investigate how lung function changes after surgery, VA said.
